The International Society for the Study of Narrative is a nonprofit association of scholars dedicated to the investigation of narrative; its elements, techniques, and forms; its relations to other modes of discourse; and its power and influence in cultures past and present. “Narrative” for us is a category that includes the novel, epic poetry, history, biography, autobiography, film, the graphic arts, music, performance, legal writing, medical case histories, and more. The Society sponsors the International Conference on Narrative each year. The first conference was held at The Ohio State University in 1986, and in subsequent years, the meeting has been held at sites across North America and Europe. At each conference, approximately 300 speakers address issues of narrative from a variety of positions and perspectives. There are currently approximately a thousand members in ISSN, and new members are always welcome. Membership in the Society includes a subscription to Narrative (winner of the 1993 award for Best New Journal from the Council of Editors of Learned Journals), as well as to the Society’s newsletter, which contains information about the annual conference, MLA sessions, the online discussion group, and other activities. For more information about the ISSN, please visit our web site at: http://narrative.georgetown.edu.

AWARDS: CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

THE BARBARA PERKINS AND GEORGE PERKINS AWARD

In 1994, acting on the suggestion of its President, Janice Carlisle, The International Society for the Study of Narrative established an award that “honors the many past and continuing contributions of Barbara Perkins and George Perkins to the development and success of the Society, including the founding of both The Journal of Narrative Technique and the Society itself. The award, presented annually to the book that makes the most significant contribution to the study of narrative,” offers a prize of $1000 plus a contribution of $500 toward expenses for the winning author to attend the Narrative Conference where the award will be presented. The first Perkins Award was announced at the MLA meeting in Chicago in December, 1995, and presented at the Tenth Anniversary Conference at The Ohio State University in April 1996.

Nominations for best book written in 2011 should be sent by June 1 to all three members of the Award Committee: Brian Richardson <richb@umd.edu>, Amy Elias <aelias2@utk.edu>, and Gerald Prince <gerry@babel.ling.upenn.edu>. Publisher, third party, and self-nominations are appropriate.

BEST GRADUATE STUDENT PAPER

All graduate students who present papers at the conference are invited to compete for the prize for the best graduate student paper. The winner will receive a copy of a Perkins Prize-winning book of his or her choice and will be encouraged to expand the winning paper for consideration by Narrative. In addition, the 2012 award winner will be eligible for $500 toward expenses to attend the 2013 conference. Submit papers electronically as attachments (Word PC-compatible files) to both of the judges, Kurt Koenigsberger <kurt.koenigsberger@case.edu> and Erin McGlothlin <emcgl@arts.wustl.edu>. Papers should be sent to them by Monday, April 30, 2012. Papers must be unrevised conference presentations.
STEVEN MAILLOUX

Steven Mailloux is President’s Professor of Rhetoric at Loyola Marymount University. Previously, he taught rhetoric, critical theory, and U.S. cultural studies as Professor of English and Comparative Literature and Chancellor’s Professor of Rhetoric at the University of California, Irvine.

During his years at UCI, he served in several administrative positions, including Associate Dean of Humanities for Graduate Study, Acting Director of the UC Humanities Research Institute, Director of the Critical Theory Emphasis, and Interim Chair of English and Comparative Literature. For the latter position, he received on-the-job training as Chair of English at Syracuse University when that department initiated a comprehensive reform of its literature curriculum in the direction of critical theory and cultural studies.

He is the co-editor of Interpreting Law and Literature (Northwestern, 1988) and editor of Rhetoric, Sophistry, Pragmatism (Cambridge, 1995) as well as the author of Interpretive Conventions: The Reader in the Study of American Fiction (Cornell, 1982), Rhetorical Power (Cornell, 1989), Reception Histories: Rhetoric, Pragmatism, and American Cultural Politics (Cornell, 1998), and Disciplinary Identities: Rhetorical Paths of English, Speech, and Composition (MLA, 2006).
Ramón Saldívar is professor of English and Comparative Literature and holds the Hoagland Family Professor of Humanities and Sciences chair at Stanford University. He has just been awarded the National Humanities Medal for 2011 in a ceremony at the White House in recognition of his teaching and research, centering on globalization, transnationalism and Chicano studies, and the development of the novel in Europe and America. His teaching and research focus on nineteenth- and twentieth-century comparative literary studies, literary theory, the history of the novel, transnationalism, American cultural studies, the literature of the Americas, and Chicano/a and U.S. Latina/o studies.

He is currently working on a new project, tentatively titled Race, Narrative Theory and the ‘Postrace’ Aesthetic in Contemporary American Fiction.
VANESSA R. SCHWARTZ is Professor of History, Art History and Film at the University of Southern California, where she was the founding director of the Visual Studies Graduate Certificate from 2006-2009. She recently received the Raubenheimer Award, the highest faculty recognition in the College. An historian of modern visual culture, she was trained in Modern European History with a concentration on France and urban culture at Princeton (Phi Beta Kappa, 1986) and UC Berkeley where she received her PhD in 1993. She is the author of It's So French! Hollywood, Paris and the Making of Cosmopolitan Film Culture (University of Chicago, 2007) and Spectacular Realities: Early Mass Culture in fin-de-siècle Paris (University of California, 1998) and most recently of Modern France: A Very Short Introduction (Oxford University Press, 2011) and is currently working on two book projects: one on the history of photojournalism and the other on the “dawn of the jet age.” In her capacity as a member of the historical committee of the city of Paris, she is co-organizing a conference called “Paris en Images” to be held May 2012. Her collaborative projects have resulted in a series of publications. She has co-edited two books, Cinema and the Invention of Modern Life (California, 1995) and The Nineteenth Century Visual Culture Reader (Routledge, 2004). She co-edited three special issues of journals: with Lynn Hunt, “The History Issue” of The Journal of Visual Culture (2010), “Caught in the Act” volume 26 (Nov. 2010) of Etudes Photographiques with Thierry Gervais and Christian Delage and “Urban Icons” in Urban History (Cambridge, 2006) with Phil Ethington, which includes a multi-media companion.

Call for Papers
Sponsored by the International Society for the Study of Narrative and hosted by Manchester Metropolitan University, the International Conference on Narrative is an interdisciplinary forum addressing all dimensions of narrative theory and practice. We welcome proposals for papers and panels on all aspects of narrative in any genre, period, discipline, language, and medium.

Proposals for Individual Papers
Please provide the title and a 300-word abstract of the paper you are proposing; your name, institutional affiliation, and email address; and a brief statement (no more than 100 words) about your work and your publications.

Proposals for Panels
Please provide a 700-word (maximum) description of the topic of the panel and of each panelist’s contribution; the title of the panel and the titles of the individual papers; and for each participant the name, institutional affiliation, email address, and a brief statement (no more than 100 words) about the person’s work and publications.

Please send proposals by email as a PDF, Word or RTF document to narrative@mmu.ac.uk

Deadline for receipt of proposals: Monday January 14 2013

Conference Coordinators:
Ginette Carpenter and Paul Wake (MMU)
Please address any enquiries to narrative@mmu.ac.uk

All participants must join the International Society for the Study of Narrative. For more information on ISSN, visit http://narrative.georgetown.edu
